TERSELY TOLD.

Hargis McGuire, operator at the Western Union, who has been ill for several days, has returned to his duties at the office.

R. E. Roundtree and family have moved from No. 116 Coyle street to the corner of Ninth avenue and Sixteenth street.

Walker Humphreys, who accompanied Miss Beatrice Boyle, of Geneva, Ala., to Atlanta, Ga., in order that she might return home, has returned to Pensacola.

Fourteen defendants were before Recorder Laney in the municipal court yesterday for trial. Of this number two defendants were discharged, three fines continued, sentence suspended in one case and fines amounting to $21 imposed.

Tallahassee Capital: Hon. J. N. Coombs, the wealthy banker and lumberman of Apalachicola and Carrabelle, was a prominent visitor at the capital Saturday. Mr. Coombs came to protest against the landing of the Tarpon at Apalachicola and Carrabelle.

Everyone should read the article which The Journal has been running for the past three days relative to the method of infection in yellow fever and the duties of the trained nurse in treating it. The information contained therein is something that everyone ought to know.

Joe Santo at White's has received a letter from a trio composed of Jeff McSwain, Buddie Greenhut and Allie Hiers, who are now "summering" at Gannett's Bayou, in which they describe the delights of life up there, in which fresh milk, yard eggs, country butter, plenty of fish and freedom from the stegomyia all play a prominent part. This party left Pensacola on the yacht Frolic on the night that the fever was discovered here and none of them seem to be in any hurry to come back.

No one who has not been through the actual experience can appreciate the difficulties and disadvantages under which a daily newspaper like this The Journal labors in such a time as this in its effort to render prompt service to its readers. With a short force in nearly every department, with a part of its force doing business from offices in another portion of the city with daily fumigations and other precautions which it takes for preserving the health of its men, and with a rapidly growing subscription list in which there are almost innumerable daily changes of addresses and delivery—with all of these things to contend with—The Journal has a part of the time, "up against it," pretty hard. Under these circumstances The Journal trusts that its readers will not get out of patience if their papers are not always delivered as they should be. They should, however, notify The Journal at once in case of any irregular service and the office will do the best it can to straighten the matter out.

Mobile Register: Captain Panjer, of the Holland steamer Amstel, remarked yesterday the great difference between public excitement on this side of the Atlantic and the indifference in the countries of Europe, in the presence of infectious diseases. "In Amsterdam, when influenza was raging there last year, I counted no less than eighty-five funerals passing my house in one day," said the captain. "but there was no noise about it in the newspapers, such as we hear on this side when a few deaths occur from yellow fever in New Orleans, nor did the people make it a topic of conversation. Amsterdam has nearly twice the population of New Orleans, but the people went about their business there as if nothing out of the ordinary was happening. I think there is no justification at the present time for the periodic scares in the South, yellow fever being less fatal than many other diseases which frequently cause high

PANAMA MATTER WILL CAUSE BIG ROW

Next Session of Congress Will Have Little to Do Except on Canal Graft Question.

Washington, Sept. 13.—In the opinion of Representative James Hay of Virginia, chairman of the democratic caucus on the House and a prominent member of the committee on military affairs, there will be a lively row in Congress during the coming session over matters relating to the Panama canal. Mr. Hay says nothing will be done with the tariff or with railway rate legislation. He thinks there will be neither a public building nor a rivers and harbors bill on account of the deficit in the treasury which will cause the republicans to preach retrenchment from the start.

Department Graft. "The presence of graft in so many of the government departments will bring forth an effort from all quarters for investigations," said Mr. Hay tonight. "But what will come of it all is more than I can predict at this time."

"It is a certainty, however, that a big row will be raised over the canal question. Many people throughout the country would like to know how all the money has been spent and some pertinent questions will be asked by the democrats. Of course with the overwhelming majority the republicans have there is little hope of a congressional investigation of the canal commission operations. The fight will come when the administration ask 'or authority to issue canal bonds. We may then be able to find out some of the things we want to know."

"Then we will have a chance at the department of agriculture and the government printing office. There is graft of the worst sort in both places. A good airing would be very helpful." Asked what would be done about the deficit in the treasury Mr. Hay said: "It is hard to tell what can be done. The tariff might be revised, but to my mind there is little chance for tariff revision at the hands of the republicans. The leaders do not want it and they seem to think they can successfully hold in check those members of the party who would like to see a little revision. The republicans are talking of cutting down expenses but how they will do it I cannot see."

"There will be no rate legislation. It has been suggested that the railroads may help the democrats a little in the matter of inquiry into the canal affairs on account of their opposition to the canal, but I do not think their influence would count in that case. It will be a matter of party pride with the republicans to stand up for anything that goes on in Panama and even the railroad influences could not accomplish anything in that direction."

Mr. Hay will not be a candidate for election as chairman of the democratic caucus. It is thought that this position will go to a Representative Henry of Texas.

T. A. JENNINGS HAS OFFICE AT DeFUNIACK

T. A. Jennings, formerly of this city, now director of the J. P. Williams Naval Stores company, whose headquarters have been in Pensacola, has removed his office to DeFuniack Springs, on account of the fever in Pensacola. Mr. Jennings was absent when the disease appeared. All the naval stores companies doing business in West Florida are suffering severely, as Pensacola was their chief point of export. They must now ship by rail to the Atlantic ports, which greatly increases the expense of marketing their product. Southern Alabama business is affected in the same way. —Tampa Times.

The tug Simpson sailed late yesterday afternoon for St. Andrews, having some barges in tow, and will return with one loaded with lumber. On a recent trip the master had quite an experience, being warned not to bring his vessel to a landing. Men with Winchester rifles were there to enforce this rule. The Simpson does not land, but the lights are towed down to her by one of the boats there.

REST MADE BAY.

There Will be Less Sleeplessness When Pensacola People Learn This. Can't rest at night with a bad back. A lame, a weak or an aching one. Doan's Kidney Pills are for bad backs.

T. Torgensen, fisherman, living at 108 South Florida Blanca street, says: "I am enjoying better health than I have had for months, and I attribute it to Doan's Kidney Pills. For more than two years I had difficulty with my kidneys, causing me to get up several times during the night and which was very annoying. I tried a number of remedies, but seemed to get no relief. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I was feeling dull and miserable and could hardly get around so I went to Sidney Kahn's drug store, No. 9 South Palafox street, and secured a box. After using the first one I felt a great deal better in every way and by the time I had finished the second box I was cured. My rest was not disturbed nights and the dull miserable feeling vanished."

CARYVILLE

Special to The Journal. Caryville, Sept. 13.—Caryville still maintains its usual equilibrium. The citizens are not seriously alarmed at the yellow fever situation in Pensacola, and New Orleans. Having such implicit confidence in the health authorities in charge of the infected districts. There has been no quarantine at this place as yet. The enforcement of rigid laws is now in force by the board of health and railroad authorities protects our locality from imposition. This vicinity is unusually healthy this year. There seems to be few cases of bilious or malarial fever. None seem to be fatal.

Everything in the line of business is moving in the usual way. The big mill is running on full time, the lumber rail of the Geo. E. Wood Lumber Co. is still being pushed northward from Westville in the direction of Darlington.

The farmers have made unusually fine crops. There is likely to be a large number of hogs fattened since the corn crop is so unusually heavy. In fact there seems to be general prosperity in the entire county of Washington this year.

While we sympathize with our acquaintances and friends who are shut up in Pensacola and who are sorely afflicted with the dread scourge of yellow fever, we have an abiding faith in the good work of Dr. Porter and the other physicians, and trust, hoping that the disease in all its phases will be wiped out long before frost.

TALLAHASSEE TOPICS

Tallahassee, Sept. 13.—Arrangements are being made to erect a $25,000 building for Leon Academy, which is the Tallahassee high school. Since the passage of the Buckham bill four grades have been added to the high school for the accommodation of the Tallahassee students that formerly attended the preparatory classes of the Florida College. A kindergarten department has also been added, and a larger building has become absolutely necessary.

An election was recently held to make Tallahassee a sub-school district and authorize the levy of a three-mill tax for school purposes. The trustees elected were Chas. A. Cay, George B. Perkins and Dr. W. L. Moor.

The new school building will occupy a block fronting on McCarty street, and will be a large, handsome building.

Governor Broward, Mrs. Broward and their interesting daughters returned last night from Jacksonville. I. J. McCall of Jasper is among the prominent visitors now at the capital.

C. D. Robertson has returned from a pleasant stay at Panacea Springs. Fred W. Kettle, secretary of President Murphree of the Female College, arrived Saturday from a tour of West Florida in the interest of the college.

Married, by Rev. Frank Cramer at the parsonage, Sunday afternoon, September 10, 1905, Mr. Henry Masters and Miss Jessie Cox, both of this city. Only relatives of the contracting parties were present.

Mrs. F. W. Armstrong and her attractive daughters, Sarah, Pearl and Frances, left last week for Eastman, Ga., where Mrs. Armstrong will place her daughters in school.

Sheriff Charles Hopkins and Mrs. Hopkins have returned from an extended stay at Hot Springs, Ark. Their friends are glad to know that Mr. Hopkins returns greatly benefitted by his stay at the Springs.

Miss Genevieve Parkhill, the charming daughter of Judge Charles B. Parkhill, has returned from a delightful trip to Europe and joined her parents at the capital. Miss Parkhill will be a charming addition to Tallahassee society.

CHARMING OLD TALLAHASSEE

Atlanta Constitution Correspondent Tells of Its Numerous Attractions.

E. L. Parker, in the Atlanta Constitution, devotes more than a page of that paper in telling of the resources of Southwest Georgia and Middle Florida and of the probable results of the new railroad to be built from Apalachicola to Atlanta. In this article he tells of Tallahassee, and among other things says:

"One of the cities of this section that never fails to interest new comers is Tallahassee, the capital of Florida, and in ante bellum days the most aristocratic town in all the 'Land of Flowers.' Its aristocracy means the best people, as it most surely did formerly. It is today an aristocratic community, for it is here that the latch string hangs on the outside of the door and all the people give you the comeback handshake and leave you more impressed than ever with the feeling of general belief that man was made for a social being, and not entirely for machine duty."

What the Name Suggests. "The very name of Tallahassee suggests to the initiated the refinement and culture that have characterized the community through its entire history. The city has cherished the traditions of Southern hospitality, and is equally as famous for its delightful society as for its natural beauty and charm."

"The capital of Florida is delightfully situated in the glorious hill country of North Florida. In all the south there is probably no more attractive region. Its hills are covered with forests of pine, magnolia and oak, and with orchards of peaches and pears. Between these hills nestle lakes of exquisite beauty, tempered in the warmer weather by cool breezes from the gulf. From the circle of hills on which the city is most picturesquely situated can be enjoyed panoramic views in the surrounding country. In addition to its beauty, this region is equally noted for its healthfulness."

Florida Female College. "Among all the towns of Florida there is none more charming or better adapted for the location of female colleges than Tallahassee, and the legislature made no mistake in selecting this city for seat of the State Female College. The excellent supply of pure water here, the highly moral status of the community and the unexcelled climate, in which parents and pupils from the north may escape the rigors of the northern winter, appealed strongly in Tallahassee's favor when the 1905 session of the legislature decided to abolish all the higher institutions of learning and establish in lieu thereof the Florida Female College and the State University, and the capital city won. The latter, for men, is located at Gainesville, and is headed by Prof. Sled, formerly of Emory College. The Florida Female College is presided over by President Albert A. Murphree, formerly president of the Florida State College. One of the members of President Murphree's faculty is Miss Madeline Kelp, formerly director of music and teacher of piano in Lucy Cobb, Athens, Ga., for ten years."

"The campus of the Florida Female College is situated on a hill in the western suburbs of Tallahassee. The sides and summit of the hill are beautified with a picturesque growth of pine and oaks, in the midst of which the college buildings are situated. A broad avenue, lined with majestic oaks, forms the approach from the center of the city to the main entrance to the campus. No more beautiful or more healthful situation than this could be desired or found in this entire region of country. To the south and west of the campus stretches a panorama of green-clad hills and sparkling lakes—a view in itself restful to the eye and inspiring to the spirit."

STRONGER THAN MEAT.

A Judge's Opinion of Grape-Nuts. A gentleman who has acquired a judicial turn of mind from experience on the bench out in the Sunflower State, writes a carefully considered opinion as to the value of Grape-Nuts as food. He says:

"For the past 5 years Grape-Nuts has been a prominent feature in our bill of fare."

"The crisp food with the delicious nutty flavor has become an indispensable necessity in my family's everyday life."

"It has proved to be most healthful and beneficial, and has enabled us to practically abolish pastry and pies from our table, for the children prefer Grape-Nuts and do not crave rich and unwholesome food."

"Grape-Nuts keeps us all in perfect physical condition—as a preventive of disease it is beyond value. I have been particularly impressed by the beneficial effects of Grape-Nuts when used by ladies who are troubled with face blemishes, skin eruptions, etc. It clears up the complexion wonderfully."

"As to its nutritive qualities, my experience is that one small dish of Grape-Nuts is superior to a pound of meat for breakfast, which is an important consideration for anyone. It satisfies the appetite and strengthens the power of resisting fatigue, while its use involves none of the disagreeable consequences that sometimes follow a meat breakfast." Danderine

AND WE CAN PROVE IT

The Great Danderine Never Fails to Produce the Desired Results

MISS Lewis' hair was very thin and it was less than two feet in length when she began using Danderine. She says her hair and scalp are now fairly teeming with new life and vigor. That's the main secret of this great remedy's success as a hair grower. It enlivens, invigorates and fairly electrifies the hair glands and tissues of the scalp, causing unusual and unheard-of activity on the part of these two most important organs, resulting in a strenuous and continuous growth of the hair.

The following is a reproduction of Miss Lewis' last letter:

January 3, 1905.
Dear Doctor Knowlton:—
You know I told you in my first letter that my hair would not reach much below my shoulders, and that all of it together only made one tiny braid.
I am sending you my photograph, which I had taken at Stevens Bros. It tells the whole story better than I can tell it. Everybody I know is using Danderine, so you see I am doing something to show my appreciation.
Sincerely yours, (Miss) EVA LEWIS.

Danderine makes the scalp healthy and fertile and keeps it so. It is the greatest scalp fertilizer and therefore the greatest hair-producing remedy the world has ever known. It is a natural food and a wholesome medicine for both the hair and scalp. Even a 25c bottle of it will put more genuine life in your hair than a gallon of any other hair tonic ever made. It shows results from the very start.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25 cents, 60 cents and $1. per bottle
FREE. To show how quickly Danderine acts we will send a large sample free by return mail to any one who sends this advertisement to the Knovvton Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address and 10 cents silver or stamps to pay postage.

IMPROVEMENT IN PENSACOLA

oped within two days caused many to believe that the physicians after many days of hard work had at last gotten the fever under control and that it would not be long before it would be completely stamped out. Those who were frightened several days since have regained their composure, and many who intended leaving the city will remain. As a consequence the detention camp at Flomaton will not have as many persons when it opens as was at first expected.

One Serious Case. About the only serious case in the city it that of Mr. Brooks, at the Park Hotel. He was taken with the fever several days since, and has never showed any improvement. Yesterday he was taken with black vomit and later with convulsions. After treatment he showed an improvement, but late last night he again began to sink and physicians were summoned. With this exception all other patients are doing nicely, and there is hardly any doubt of their recovery.

A Woman's Paradise.

Manxwoman declares that the Isle of Man is in some ways a woman's paradise, where at any rate she is more favored by the law than in any other part of the king's dominions. Among other privileges she enjoys a vote for the Manx house of keys and this whether she is a widow or spinster, owner, occupier or even lodger. Every widow enjoys half of her husband's personal estate, quite regardless of her late husband's wishes and "will," while the husband cannot even deal with his own property without first obtaining his wife's written consent to the transaction.

St. Matthew's Flower.

No saint has a more interesting flower dedicated to him in the floral calendar than St. Matthew. This is the passion flower. It is thought to have emblems of the crucifixion, and to these it owes the name given to it by its Spanish discoverers in America. The imaginary resemblance of the corona to the crown of thorns is the basis of the fancy. In addition to that there are the five antlers for the five wounds and the three styles for the nails, while the hammer, the lancet and the scourge are also traceable.

WHY MERCHANTS SHOULD ADVERTISE IN THE WEEKLY JOURNAL

The attention of merchants and advertisers in general is directed to the fact that The Journal's WEEKLY EDITION is now read by practically every reader in the county outside of the city who does not take the daily.

Advertisements in the DAILY reach practically all of the city people and a large part of the country people; but an advertisement in both the DAILY and the WEEKLY will reach all of them—both city and country.

THE WEEKLY JOURNAL is a compilation of the local and telegraphic news which has been published in the daily during the week, and it reaches every subscriber in time for him to read on Sunday.

No Pensacola merchant who desires the country trade can afford to stay out of The Weekly Journal.

It is mailed to subscribers for $1.00 per year, and practically every voter in Escambia county reads it.
